All Saints Catholic School News

All Saints Catholic School is collecting pop/can tabs (any brand). Please drop these off at the school or the Cabrini Parish Office.

We hope you have been able to attend a Listening Session or a Coffee and Conversation with Fr. Damian and gotten your questions answered.

We hope you have read the brochure sent out in October and watched a video on our Capital Campaign Project.

We hope you have prayed about your role in this endeavor.

Now, we ask you to turn in your pledge cards. Without receiving your pledge card, we have no way of knowing if you didn't receive it or have lost it (there are extras in the back of church and at the Parish Center reception desk) or just forgot about it... And we can't know where we are at and what plans we can be making... Thank you!

Catholic Men's Night - Transforming Your Family Tree

Come to this talk if your family has any problems! Men's speaker, comedian, and therapist Paul J. Kim talks about changing your family tree. There is no such thing as a "perfect family". And let's be honest, none of us were taught about what makes for successful relationships, marriages, and parenting in our classes growing up. Negative patterns of behavior, both in individuals and in families, are bound to repeat themselves and pass on from generation to generation. This is a talk for men who want to change their family trees for the better! Register at myforge.org/events-Omaha. Lucky Bucket Brewing Company, (11941 Centennial Road, Suite 1, La Visa, NE), Thursday, December 10th. Doors open at 7 pm, talk starts at 8 pm. Open to all adult men.

Pastor's Letter

Dear Friends,

It was one hundred years ago that the Feast of Christ the King was celebrated for the first time. The year before, 1925, Pope Pius XI had written an encyclical entitled Quas Primas. Pope Pius XI wrote it while Mussolini's Fascist government was growing strong in Italy and nationalist movements were taking hold across Europe. These groups often used national religious identities to support their power. They demanded that people's top loyalty should be to the state, the nation, or the race.

Pius XI saw this demand as a direct threat to Christianity and to individual freedom. By creating a universal feast for Christ the King, he told the world's faithful that their greatest loyalty belonged only to Jesus Christ. The feast, therefore, acted as a powerful, peaceful statement: no nation, no dictator, and no racial belief was ultimately in charge; all were under the divine Kingship of the one who ruled through the Cross. Leadership here at Cabrini were moved by Pius' teaching and added the painting of Christ the King above our back altar as a steady reminder of our true real King.

Later, in 1937, Pius XI wrote Mit brennender Sorge, meaning "With Deep Anxiety". This papal letter was a direct condemnation of Nazi Germany's totalitarian ideology and its racist policies, which were in stark opposition to Christian principles. The encyclical was read from Catholic pulpits across Germany on Palm Sunday of that year, making it a public denouncement of the regime's actions. Sadly, history tells us of the failure of many to act on Pius' teaching and as a result millions suffered and died.

With his teaching of Christ as King, Pius XI purposely taught that Christ's rule is different from the rule of kings on Earth. He noted that Christ's kingdom is one of "justice, love, and peace," not one "sustained by arrogance, rivalries, and oppression." Christ's kingship, shown during his crucifixion, is defined by humility, service, and sacrifice, not by force.

For Christians, saying Christ is King means rejecting any group, like Christian nationalists or white supremacists, that tries to use faith to gain earthly power. This directly conflicts with the Kingship of the one who rules by sacrificial love and care for everyone. This feast challenges all of us in the Church to a public commitment to morality and justice that goes against the forceful language of earthly empires. Many Protestant churches seeing the truth of what Pius XI was teaching added this feast to their yearly calendar.

When governments are showing increasingly authoritarian tendencies, this feast stands as a yearly call to choose the kingdom of Christ, which is defined by universal welcome and sacrificial love, over the kingdoms of this world, which are often defined by borders, fear, and oppression. The gospel from Matthew today reminds us to see Christ in the hungry, thirsty, naked, ill, stranger and prisoner. They are the living presence of our King.

Peace,

Fr. Damian

Poinsettias and Evergreens for Christmas
