Second Collection This Weekend

There will be a second collection at the Masses this weekend for Catholic Charities.

Cabrini Family Dinner This Sunday

We will be having our Cabrini Family Potluck Dinner this Sunday, November 19th, from 6-8 pm in the Cabrini Parish Center gym. Doors will be open at 5 pm for those who want to drop food off before Mass at 5:30 pm. Pork Loin will be provided. Jeff Johnson will share with us at 7 pm. See you there! (There will be no dinner in December).

Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving Day is this Thursday! Mass will be at 9 am. You may bring an item for your Thanksgiving meal (like wine, dinner rolls...) to be blessed at the Mass. We will also be collecting non-perishable food items for the St. Vincent de Paul Food Pantry Thanksgiving Day and the weekend following—November 25th and 26th.

Come and See

Are you, or someone you know, interested in joining the Catholic Church? Or were you baptized Catholic but never confirmed? Then Come and See is for you! We will begin offering Come and See for interested persons, starting Sunday, January 14th following the 5:30 pm Mass. These classes will occur weekly through Easter. The content will focus on the core areas of the Catholic faith. Please reach out to Deacon Doug Lenz at dalenz@archomaha.org or (402) 312-3550 or Ann Lenz at amlenz@archomaha.org

2024 Mass Intention Forms

The 2024 Mass Intention Forms have been placed in the back of church and may be completed and returned to the Cabrini Parish Center (mailed in, delivered personally, or placed in an envelope marked "Mass Intentions" and put in the weekend collection basket). We would appreciate initial forms for the year be turned in by December 15, 2023. These forms may also be filled out and turned in at anytime during the year. A suggested donation of $10 per Mass (though more or less may be given) should accompany the form.

Pastor's Letter

Dear Friends,

The Synod's full document has been released and is forty pages long. Too long for me to put into this format. You can find the full document at the Vatican Website, just look for the English version. However, since I am returning from the pilgrimage to Spain today without time to write you a regular letter, I am going to give you a couple paragraphs from Section 2 of the full Synod document for your reflections:

According to the teaching of the Second Vatican Council, the Church is a "people brought together by virtue of the unity of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit". The Father, through the mission of the Son and the gift of the Spirit, involves us in a dynamism of communion and mission that moves us from the "I" to the "we" and places us at the service of the world. Synodality translates the Trinitarian dynamism with which God comes to meet humanity into spiritual attitudes and ecclesial processes. For this to happen, it is necessary for all the baptized to commit themselves to the reciprocal exercise of their vocation, charism, and ministry. Only in this way can the Church truly become a "conversation" within itself and with the world, walking side by side with every human being in the style of Jesus.

Since the origins, the Church's synodal journey is oriented toward the Kingdom, which will be fully accomplished when God is all in all. The witness of ecclesial fraternity and missionary dedication to the service of the least will never measure up to the Mystery of which they are also a sign and instrument. The Church does not reflect on its synodal configuration in order to place itself at the center of the proclamation, but to best fulfill, even in its constitutive incompleteness, its service to the coming of the Kingdom.

The renewal of the Christian community is possible only by recognizing the primacy of grace. If spiritual depth is lacking, synodality remains cosmetic. What we are called to, however, is not only to translate into community processes a spiritual experience gained elsewhere, but more deeply to experience how reciprocal relationships are the place and form of an authentic encounter with God. In this sense, while drawing on the rich spiritual heritage of the Tradition, the synodal perspective contributes to renewing its forms: of a prayer open to participation, a discernment lived together, and a missionary energy that arises from sharing and that radiates as service.

Conversation in the Spirit is a tool that, even with its limitations, enables authentic listening in order to discern what the Spirit is saying to the Churches. Its practice has elicited joy, awe and gratitude and has been experienced as a path of renewal that transforms individuals, groups, and the Church. The word "conversation" expresses more than mere dialogue: it interweaves thought and feeling, creating a shared vital space. That is why we can say that conversion is at play in conversation. This is an anthropological reality found in different peoples and cultures, who gather together in solidarity to deal with and decide matters vital to the community. Grace brings this human experience to fruition. Conversing "in the Spirit" means living the experience of sharing in the light of faith and seeking God's will in an authentically evangelical atmosphere within which the Holy Spirit's unmistakable voice can be heard.

Since synodality is ordered to mission, Christian communities are to enter into solidarity with those of other religions, convictions and cultures, thus avoiding, on the one hand, the risk of self-referentiality and self-preservation, and on the other hand the risk of loss of identity. The logic of dialogue, expressed in mutual learning and journeying together must come to characterize evangelical proclamation, service to those experiencing poverty, care for our common home, and theological research.

More to come!

Peace,

Fr. Damian
