If You Enjoy Fr. Damian’s Homilies, You’re Going to LOVE This...

The Catholic Church describes the Eucharist as “the source and summit of the Christian faith” (CCC 1324). The National Eucharistic Revival is a movement to restore understanding and devotion to this great mystery in the United States by helping us renew our worship of Jesus Christ in the Eucharist. On our website stcabriniomaha.org, you can join Fr. Damian as he takes us on a journey focused on the Eucharist and what it means to us. These videos were created for our Cabrini Communities at St. Frances Cabrini and so some of you may have seen them. If you haven’t or would like to see them again, simply go to the website and click on “Eucharist, The Ultimate Gift”. Enjoy!

Become an IPF Spiritual Mom

The Institute for Priestly Formation holds a summer program for diocesan seminarians each summer on the Creighton University Campus. Spiritual Moms agree to pray a Hail Mary each day for the seminarians. Their first need is for “One-to-One” Spiritual Moms who will pray, by name, for a specific seminarian. You must plan to attend Friends Night on Wednesday, July 10th. You will meet your seminarian son that evening at Christ the King Church (not the Creighton campus as in the past). More details will follow. They also need women from within, as well as outside of, the Omaha area to be “General” Spiritual Moms. You will be given the names of all 120 seminarians from dioceses across the country who are planning to attend and you will be asked to pray one Hail Mary for three different men each day. Pre-registration is now open at the priestlyformation.org or by calling Lisa at (402) 980-3283.

Free Model Ultrasound Scans at EPS

Would you like a free ultrasound of your baby? To help Essential Pregnancy Services’ new staff complete their onboarding training, you can get a free ultrasound, including pictures, during an upcoming model scan day on May 18th, 8:30 am - 4:30 pm, at EPS Maple Village Testing Center (3029 North 93rd St.). Participants already should have established prenatal care with a physician and have a due date between November 1st and December 25th. If you or someone you know is interested in getting a free ultrasound, call or text (402) 554-1000 to schedule your appointment.

Second Collection This Weekend

There will be a second collection this weekend for the Catholic Communication Campaign.

Spaghetti Dinner and Bake Sale Volunteers—Here’s What You Did!!

When we say THANK YOU, we really mean it!! We are in awe of you! This past Spaghetti Dinner, you made and served 9,500 meatballs, 18 gallons of sauce, and 680 pounds of spaghetti. That calculates to over 3,000 (yes, that’s a few more than usual) dinners. And don’t forget all the cannolis, biscottis and home baked goods brought in so that our guests could have dessert! This is such an important part of the dining experience. Kudos to all who had any part in this and let’s do it again in October!

The Marriage Course

Please consider joining us for The Marriage Course (aka Summer Date Night) on Tuesdays, 6 pm - 8 pm, via Zoom, June 4th through July 16th (7 weeks). Whether you’ve been married six months or forty years, whether you’re in a good place or struggling, The Marriage Course offers practical support to strengthen your relationship. Each session includes a large group greeting, a video, and time for private discussion between you and your spouse. We’d love to have you join us! For more information or to register, contact Deacon Doug Lenz dalenz@archomaha.org or Ann Lenz amlenz@archomaha.org.

Seven Sisters Apostolate Group Forming

Do you desire to pray intentionally for your parish priest? The Seven Sisters Apostolate form groups of 7 women, each dedicated to pray one Holy Hour a week for a priest so that there is intentional prayer for the priest each and every day. We desire to create a Seven Sisters group for Fr. Damian. If you have any

Pastor's Letter

Dear Friends,

Happy Mother's Day to all the moms in our community!

One of the blessings and curses of the Catholic priesthood is the charism of celibacy. It has created for me a place where I am able to be a part of so many people's lives where I can intimately observe the working of human love. However, it has also removed from me the experience of having my own children and being with them as they grow and embrace the life God gives them.

Just this past week, I met with a family as they planned a funeral for a 96-year-old mother who dedicated her life to caring for her spouse (who suffered a stroke in his forties), her children and grandchildren. She modeled, in their words, the power of self-sacrificial love. I also met with young couples preparing for marriage who dream of being able to offer that same fullness of love to their children. I spent time with families who are suffering and others who are ill. Every one of them became for me the incarnation of love.

In my observation, parenting has got to be the biggest act of faith a person can take. Parents pour themselves into these young souls, knowing that they won't see the fruit of that labor until well past the time that they can fix it. In faith, they plant seeds and water them and try to provide the most nourishing soil, but in the end can only pray and wait to see what will grow. I have often used the example of parents giving their children car keys when they turn sixteen as the greatest act of love and faith. They could keep their children locked up in the basement and then they would never have to worry about what will happen to them, but that would not be love. Love sets children free. Mothers know this truth all too well. Love involves risk and love suffers.

When I have been on retreat at Cloisters, I have spent long periods contemplating their copy of Michelangelo's Pieta. The Pieta is a statue of a mother doing what every mother fears - holding her dead son. She could not keep Jesus safe. The very fact that she was human doomed him to pain and death. There were times when she did not understand or doubted who he actually was. Remember the times in scripture that his family came to take Jesus home? Perhaps sometimes Jesus seemed to Mary to be just a homeless, unemployed rebel. She might have wondered why he didn't come home and just be a carpenter. We know that his death was the beginning of the Kingdom, but none of the people around him, including Mary, understood that transformation while he was dying.

Mary simply trusts Jesus. Mary embraces her son's death. Without knowing what we know, she holds him as if it were his birth. She is at peace, not because she did not care about her son, but because she loved him more, not less. She loved him enough to love even what seemed to be the mess of his life and death. She loved God enough to love the fullness of the call that He had given her. Mary was not naïve, not immune to pain, and not privy to the secrets of God. Bravely, she brought her child into the world and embraced his death which she could not understand.

Mothers help us to see the power of God's love as they give so generously of themselves for their families. We honor them today for all they have done for us. Perhaps St. Paul's description of love will describe motherly love: patient, kind, not jealous, not pompous, not rude, not seeking its own interests, not quick tempered, not brooding over injury, not rejoicing with wrong doing – it bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things. This love never fails.

Peace,

Fr. Damian
