Stewardship Reflection for June 14th, 11th Sunday in Ordinary Time

"As you go, make this proclamation: 'The kingdom of heaven is at hand.'" MATTHEW 10:7
 Many of us take our lives for granted. We think we have plenty of time to "repent." Maybe we should live with a little more urgency in making things right with God. This is the difference in living our discipleship out of obligation versus out of love. Obligation implies we do the minimum required. Love implies we want a relationship. God wants us to be with Him in Heaven forever, but He also wants to be in relationship with us right now, while we are on earth. Start this second – invite the Lord into your heart.

More than the money...

A simple request for rent help led to a deeply moving encounter. After years of fighting addiction, "C" was sober but entirely alone, having lost custody of her three children and the trust of her family.

Her life shifted when she discovered she was pregnant. Facing this crisis alone, she planned on adoption until she says she heard God's voice telling her to keep the baby. Today, her almost two-year-old child has restored her sense of purpose.

"C" wants to reconnect with her Catholic faith and find a safe, welcoming community for her and her child. We invited her to Cabrini. Knowing this community can offer much more than emergency financial aid. We are opening our hearts and welcoming her to the loving spiritual family she needs to heal and thrive.

Pastor's Letter

Dear Friends,

Some of our neighbors who are not Catholic may find it odd that the Holy Father has written an encyclical on the challenges humanity faces with the use of AI. Some of his critics do not think he has gone far enough and suggest he state that AI is always bad, while others think he should just stay away from any AI critique whatever.

Anticipating these critiques, Pope Leo says in the introduction: the Holy Spirit challenges us today regarding our relationship with technology and the ongoing digital revolution. Scientific discoveries are talents entrusted to humanity so that they may bear fruit. Technology has the power to heal, connect, educate and protect our common home; but it can also divide, exclude and generate new forms of injustice. In the abstract, technology in and of itself is not a solution to humanity's problems, just as it is not inherently evil. In practice, however, technology is never neutral, because it takes on the characteristics of those who devise, finance, regulate and use it. Therefore, the primary choice is not between a "yes" or "no" to technology, but rather between constructing Babel or rebuilding Jerusalem; between a power that claims to dominate the heavens and a people who work together in the presence of God to rebuild the walls of fraternal coexistence.

As Pope Leo concludes his introduction to the Encyclical, Magnifica Humanitas, speaking of the four things necessary to build a city founded on the common good:

1. Building a city founded on the common good implies, first and foremost, building on a firm relationship with God. It means recognizing that the truth of his love calls us to life "in all its fullness" and communion with him.
2. Secondly, building for the common good means accepting the limits and weakness of humanity without considering them an error to be corrected. Today, the human desire for fullness of life is at risk of being misled by deceitful goals... The Church reminds us, with a firm yet humble voice, that true fulfillment is not achieved by eliminating weakness but through harmonious growth. It is found where freedom and responsibility are intertwined with mutual care and true solidarity, and where progress is measured by the dignity of each person and the good of all peoples.
3. Thirdly, building a world in which everyone can flourish requires shared responsibility and courage. No one can single-handedly bear the weight of the challenges the world is facing, just as no one is so weak that they cannot play their part, for "power is made perfect in weakness". All are given their own section of the wall...
4. Finally, building for the common good requires an evangelical language. We must avoid humiliating or antagonistic words, opting rather for a clarity that sheds light and a frankness that unlocks new possibilities.

He concludes the introduction with these beautiful words: With the heart of a shepherd and a father, I ask everyone to abandon the construction of yet another Tower of Babel and to join forces in building up the common good, so that humanity will never lose its beauty, and the world once again will come to recognize the human heart as the place where God desires to dwell.

More next week.

Peace,

Fr. Damian
