CEC Weekends

The Christians Encounter Christ (CEC) Fall 2026 Weekends are coming soon, and registration is now open! CEC is a faith-filled weekend designed to help participants step away from the busyness of everyday life, deepen their relationship with Christ, and experience prayer, reflection, fellowship, and Christian community. Men’s Weekend: October 16–18, and Women’s Weekend: October 23–25. Weekend retreats will be held at St. Robert Bellarmine Parish (118th and Pacific, Omaha). Register today at www.cecomaha.org.

Opportunity to Explore Monastic Life

The Benedictine Sisters of Perpetual Adoration invite single women, ages 18-40 who are curious about religious life, to their All Saints Monastic Experience retreat October 30 - November 1, 2026, at their monastery in Clyde, Missouri. It’s a chance to experience the daily rhythm of monastic life where participants can join the sisters in praying the Divine Office, Daily Mass and Eucharistic Adoration, as well as experience Lectio Divina (praying with scripture) and gain wisdom from the Benedictine tradition. There is no cost to attend, and more details are available at <https://benedictinesisters.org/come-let-us-adore/> To register or to receive information, please contact Sister Nancy Rose at (660) 944-2221 ext. 142 or vocation@benedictinesisters.org.

Fall 40 Days for Life

September 23rd - November 1st is the Fall 40 Days for Life international prayer and fasting campaign to end abortion. Over 26,500 saved from abortion, 278 abortion workers converted, and 187 abortion centers closed. Please sign up to pray for an hour at the abortion facility with a friend, or help to fill a day with your parish! Visit 40DaysforLife.com or call Nebraskans Embracing Life at (402) 399-0299 for more information.

Equipping Our Little Corner of the Kingdom

For more than a century, God has been at work in our little corner of Omaha. Now we have an opportunity—and a responsibility—to care for what we have received and prepare St. Frances Cabrini for generations to come. Equipping Our Little Corner of the Kingdom is a capital campaign to create places that help people encounter Christ, pray, serve, gather and know, “You belong here.” The vision includes a renewed parish center, an accessible church entrance, a prayer garden and outdoor chapel, and improvements that will make our campus safer, more connected and more welcoming.

From mid-September through mid-November, we will host small-group listening sessions where parishioners can learn more about the project, ask questions and consider how each of us can contribute to building our community. We hope every household will participate in one of these conversations. Thursday morning sessions will be held in the lower level classroom, rather than the library, for those who find the ramp and stairs challenging.

Please begin by learning, praying and discerning how God may be inviting you to take part. Use the QR code to access our website and click on Donate for more information:

This is our home, our mission and our next chapter. Together, we can equip our little corner of the Kingdom for those who will come after us.

A Neighbor Finds Hope

We recently had the privilege of assisting a young family of four who had fallen on difficult times. After the father's work hours were unexpectedly cut, the family faced the terrifying reality of past-due utilities. Through the support of our St. Vincent de Paul organization, we were able to step in and cover those costs.

In addition to financial aid, we provided grocery cards and a blessing. It was a moving moment that brought tears of joy to the young mother—and to us as well. Before saying goodbye, we shared a list of additional resources to ensure they have a safety net for the future.

After all, that's what neighbors do for neighbors."

Pastor's Letter

Dear Friends,

In spite of all the challenges, Pope Leo does not give up hope. Here are some of his concrete suggestions for us as we move to create a better world:

At this point, however, a subtle temptation may emerge, namely the thought that the problems are too big and we are too small, and that our choices, therefore, cannot make a difference. This is a polite form of resignation, often disguised as realism. Certainly, not everyone has the same power to make a difference. There are those who govern, make investment decisions, lead institutions, conduct research, educate, produce or provide information, and then there are those who only seem to live their daily lives. Yet, no one is without responsibility. We all have our own areas for action, and it is precisely there — and nowhere else — that we must choose whether to fuel the mentality of force (even if only through indifference, cynicism, lies or hatred), or to preserve the mindset of peace (with truth, moderation, closeness and care).

The twentieth-century Catholic author J.R.R. Tolkien, in the words of a protagonist in one of his novels, described our responsibility in this way: "It is not our part to master all the tides of the world, but to do what is in us for the succour of those years wherein we are set, uprooting the evil in the fields that we know, so that those who live after may have clean earth to till." The civilization of love will not arise from a single or spectacular gesture, but from the sum total of small and steadfast acts of fidelity that serve as a bulwark against dehumanization. For this reason, it is worthwhile pausing to reflect on some aspects of how we, each in our own way, can cooperate in building the civilization of love...

The first contribution we can make toward a more humane civilization is to be mindful of our words. "Let us disarm words and we will help to disarm the world." Words have enormous power, something we experience in our daily interactions; for example, spoken words can change our mood for better or for worse. "Peace begins with each one of us: in the way we look at others, listen to others and speak about others. In this sense, the way we communicate is of fundamental importance: we must say 'no' to the war of words and images, we must reject the paradigm of war."

... All of us, at every level, can contribute to building the foundation of peace, which is justice. We do not merely seek any kind of peace — such as an absence of conflict at any cost — but instead, the true peace born of justice. "There exists a very close connection between the justice of the individual and the peace of everyone."

... There are times when, in order to remain human, we must set aside our reservations and take a stand. In some conflicts, it is unjust to remain neutral, nor is it enough merely to claim that we are not complicit. When we witness the bombing of civilians, attacks on hospitals, schools or vital infrastructure, and violence that affects children, we are confronted with scandals that wound humanity itself. For this reason, we cannot limit ourselves to the level of abstract analysis. Pope Francis encouraged us to "touch the wounded flesh" of those who suffer, look at their faces, listen to their stories and acknowledge their wounds. Painful events require both history and memory, the former to recount the facts, the latter to bear witness to lived experiences. Giving space to the perspectives and voices of victims through communication and education helps us to become aware of the abyss of evil inherent in war, and generally in all forms of violence.

... In order to build the civilization of love, we must engage in dialogue, for this is the primary means of coexistence between people and nations, and it is the alternative to open conflict. On the eve of the Second World War, Pius XII affirmed that nothing is lost with peace, whereas with war everything can be lost. He insisted that people must return to speaking with one another, because a sincere and persevering dialogue always opens up the possibility of an honorable solution. Indeed, dialogue is an ordinary part of human life and does not only concern relations between States. It involves acquiring an attitude that seeks to forge bonds of fraternity built on listening, an open demeanor, making time for each other and even wasting time together. For if we experience authentic encounters with others, with those who are different, strangers and migrants, it becomes much more difficult even to imagine war.

Peace,

Fr. Damian
